The present document has been prepared within the framework of the authority and competencies of the Cyprus Agency of Quality Assurance and Accreditation in Higher Education, according to the provisions of the “Quality Assurance and Accreditation of Higher Education and the Establishment and Operation of an Agency on Related Matters Laws” of 2015 to 2021 [L.136\(I\)/2015 – L.132\(I\)/2021].

A. Guidelines on content and structure of the report

- The Higher Education Institution (HEI) based on the External Evaluation Committee's (EEC's) evaluation report (Doc.300.1.1 or 300.1.1/1 or 300.1.1/2 or 300.1.1/3 or 300.1.1/4) must justify whether actions have been taken in improving the quality of the programme of study in each assessment area. The answers' documentation should be brief and accurate and supported by the relevant documentation. Referral to annexes should be made only when necessary.
- In particular, under each assessment area and by using the 2nd column of each table, the HEI must respond on the following:
 - the areas of improvement and recommendations of the EEC
 - the conclusions and final remarks noted by the EEC
- The institution should respond to the EEC comments, in the designated area next each comment. The comments of the EEC should be copied from the EEC report without any interference in the content.
- *In case of annexes, those should be attached and sent on separate document(s). Each document should be in .pdf format and named as annex1, annex2, etc.

1. Study programme and study programme's design and development (ESG 1.1, 1.2, 1.7, 1.8, 1.9)

| Areas of improvement and recommendations by EEC | Actions Taken by the Institution | For official use Only |
| The program not only aims at the transmission of (inter)disciplinary knowledge and the training in academic research skills (critical attitude, analytical skills, writing skills), but also focuses on the training in transferable skills (and so-called “soft skills”), like science communication. It is not entirely clear from the program outline how the different skills are interwoven with the organization of the program in terms of courses and phases (compulsory/concentration/thesis). It is advisable to design/describe separate learning lines for the most important skills (academic/professional and transferable) in order to make clear how they relate to -and are further developed within- the subsequent phases and courses of the program. | The Programme curriculum and its learning outcomes were designed based on the mapping documents appearing in Appendix 1a and Appendix 1b. These documents demonstrate how learning outcomes are mapped in each of the courses offered and the assessment methods used. Based on the suggestions of the EEC, these documents have now been revised and demonstrate how the Academic and Transferable skills (soft skills) are interwoven with the organization of the Programme in terms of: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. courses and phases (compulsory/concentration/thesis); please see Appendix 1a, and 2. its three phases (compulsory/concentration/thesis); please see Appendix 1b. | Choose an item. |
| Initially the program attracted students with a professional background (already having jobs in secondary education etc.), but it now attracts young students without professional experience as well (having finished a BA elsewhere). It is advisable to investigate if the current program is still optimal for this last group when the student numbers are increasing and while distinct student populations with different profiles may form. This issue is not a problem yet, but it is recommended to anticipate it at an early stage to maintain the high level of education within the program for different target groups. | We would like to express our agreement with the EEC comment that the Programme increasingly attracts young students without professional experience in the domains related to the three concentrations, namely History, Archaeology and Art and Heritage Management. As the Committee observed, we also admit that due to the Programme's high standards this could be a problem in the future. We have therefore already taken pre-emptive measures to anticipate this issue as follows: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. The two introductory compulsory courses (HEL600 and HEL610) for all Concentrations have been appropriately designed and implemented in order to obtain our | Choose an item. |

| | major objective: offer all students a smooth introduction to the Programme. These courses introduce students from dissimilar backgrounds to the Research Methods in Hellenic Studies, and specifically in the fields of History, Archaeology and Art and Heritage Management. They provide them with a valuable comparative, interdisciplinary and diachronic overview of certain fundamental methodological aspects of Hellenic Studies and help them decide which method(s) are more compatible with their preferred research field, paving the way for both the continuation and the completion of the MA “Hellenic Studies”. 2. Furthermore, one positive element is that the great majority of the young students hold Bachelor degrees in History, Archaeology and/or Art, and Museology, and therefore have a good background in one or more of these disciplines already. They possess the necessary skills and knowledge to complete the programme of study successfully and a number of students from these groups have already obtained their MA in Hellenic Studies. | |
| The thesis phase, as well as its intended learning outcomes, is described in a very concise way. Although this is not reported by the students as insufficient, it could be good for new students to know at an early stage what will be expected from them in this final phase and - more importantly- what the different possibilities and formats look like. The program description seems to suggest that the main goal is learning to write an academic essay about a self-chosen and original research topic, although -in reality- this final phase is more flexible and could also contain the design of a museum | In the current version of the Programme, during the course HEL690 Master Thesis, students have the opportunity to put into practise the theoretical and methodological principles that they acquired in the Programme. In the new edition of the Programme, we added a new interactive activity: during the 6th week of the course HEL690 Master Thesis, a Master's Thesis Workshop is organised, where students present aspects of their work and receive feedback from the instructors, their supervisor, and from fellow students. Hence now, in accordance with the suggestion of the EEC: | Choose an item. |

| exhibition, conservation plan (heritage management) or similar topics. This is a true asset of the program and it should be advertised more explicitly. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> From the academic year 2023-2024, the Thesis Workshop will be available to all the students of the Programme and not exclusively to those who selected the course HES690 Master Thesis from the first semester of their studies. Thus, even students in their 1st semester, will have the opportunity to be informed, from the very first phase of their studies, of what is expected from them in the final phase of their studies (composition of the Master Thesis) and -more importantly- what the different Master Thesis possibilities and formats look like. During this meeting, the Coordinator of the Programme will proceed with an in-depth presentation of the main axes of the Course Master Thesis. In addition, during the Thesis Workshop, the Coordinator will present the different formats that the Master Thesis could take (please see Syllabus HEL690, Appendix 2). | |
| Theses are of a high academic level, like the courses in the first two phases of the program, but it seems that students devote (much) more time to finish them than the program anticipates, leading to inevitable delays. Although this may seem understandable from the perspective of both students and staff, and while this is the case in many European master programs in history, archaeology and heritage studies, it is advisable to investigate how this effect can be mitigated. | The Master's thesis is, indeed, a key component of the Programme, and we agree that its completion in certain cases takes a lot longer than the Programme anticipates, leading to inevitable delays. Until now, full-time students had the opportunity to select during the third semester of their studies the course Master Thesis (20 ECTS) and one Elective Concentration Course (10 ECTS). In this case, as the EEC recognises they could not devote all their time to the course Master Thesis and this has led to inevitable delays. Our determination to deal effectively with this issue is best reflected in increasing the number of ECTS for the Master Thesis (30 ECTS), compared to the existing version of the Programme (20 ECTS). Within the new structure of the Programme, students will thus have the | Choose an item. |

| | opportunity to devote an entire semester to their thesis and submit it within the standard period of study of the Programme. Furthermore, following the completion of the Master Thesis Workshop (the new interactive activity that we added in the course HEL690 – please see the comment in the item above) a written early-stage feedback report will be provided by supervisors (approximately at the end of the seventh Week of the semester); this will contribute decisively to the avoidance of delays. | |
| It may well be that the program is sustainable with the current student numbers. These seems to be stable for several years now, at c. 30 students. Additionally, as said, drop-rates are low. However, when there is the need to attract more students, we recommend reconsidering the labelling of the program, the teaching language and the recruitment strategy. The program holds a huge potential in terms of attracting a larger student population, not only from Cyprus and Greece, but in fact from the Eastern Mediterranean region as a whole and other regions in the Near East, Europe and North America, where the history and heritage of ancient and modern Greece has (had) an impact on culture, science and society. This potential now remains hidden in the Greek language program and in labels like "Hellenic Studies". It is advisable to explore alternatives like "History, Archaeology and Heritage of the Greek World". More actively advertising the English-language version will help as well, by organizing online open days, the summer school, etc. | We agree with the EEC that the numerous potentialities of the Programme now remain hidden in the Greek language Programme and in labels like "Hellenic Studies". This is the reason why in the new edition of the Programme the title has been modified. The new title of the Programme will be: Hellenic Studies: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> -History -Archaeology and Art -Heritage Management. It thus becomes immediately apparent that the MA in Hellenic Studies at European University Cyprus covers all the above three scientific fields. Regarding advertising the English-language version of the Programme and attracting students from the regions suggested by the EEC: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • We organise online events in Greek and English (for example ISTORIAI- Online Public Conferences, please see in Appendix 3 the announcements for these events since 2020) as to ensure that we reach a wider population and target audience. | Choose an item. |

| | In complying with the suggestion of the EEC we are now additionally organizing: <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Online Open days: The 8th of September 2023, and in collaboration with the Department of Marketing, we are organising an online event where the Academic Staff of the MA Hellenic Studies will present the philosophy, the structure and the courses of the English-language version (please see Appendix 4).2. International Conferences: In agreement with the EEC that the program holds a huge potential in terms of attracting a larger student population, namely from the Eastern Mediterranean region, the Programme of Hellenic Studies became a founding member and Co-Coordinator of the International Programme The Ptolemies and the Eastern Mediterranean. The kick-off meeting (1st Workshop) was organised by the European University Cyprus and the MA in Hellenic Studies. The 2nd International Workshop will take place at the European University Cyprus (Nicosia, 18-21 of October 2023). The event will be in English, and it will also be streamed online and recorded. Therefore, the event will be accessible to the wider public and especially to those who hold bachelor's degrees in fields related to Hellenic Studies. This will be a great opportunity to promote the English-language version of the MA Hellenic Studies on an international level and the Coordinator of the Programme will present the subject "MA Hellenic Studies (History, Archaeology and Art, Heritage Management): An innovative European programme of studies in the Eastern Mediterranean" (please see Appendix 5). | |

| Communication, cooperation and interaction among students could be strengthened further by introducing special assignments explicitly demanding from fellow students to provide feedback on other students work. In a next step, the student receiving feedback could show how his/her work has been revised, or not, due to the feedback. That could be a natural way for students to interact with each other and at the same time learn from each other. | Following the suggestion of the EEC we have created for each course of the Programme a Group Peer-Review Assignment which encourages student to student interaction (please see an example in Appendix 6). As the sample indicates, fellow students through such Peer-Review Assignments provide feedback on their other fellow students work, and the student receiving feedback demonstrates how his/her work has been revised, or not, due to the feedback. Hence, students interact with each other and at the same time learn form each other in a natural way. | Choose an item. |

3. Teaching staff (ESG 1.5)

| Areas of improvement and recommendations by EEC | Actions Taken by the Institution | For official use Only |
| In response to the EEC's questions, we were told that the incoming salaries are determined by perceived market value, that is, a faculty member in the Humanities will be offered a smaller incoming salary than a colleague in a STEM discipline. Moreover, merit increases are not exclusively based on objective criteria but on informal evaluations or input offered by the faculty members' supervisors. This type of informal evaluation happens in addition to student evaluations, but it is not entirely clear which evaluations carry more weight. Salaries do go up if the instructor has more than 10 students in one course, and again after the next 10 students. On 24 February, we were informed that the average gross salary of the full-time academic staff of the Department of Humanities is €3,750 per month (X13). But we realize that this average would not apply to adjunct faculty, who are hired on a course-by-course basis. Already in the on-site session, the EEC members pointed out the lack of transparency in this remuneration system. The system also risks de-incentivizing qualified faculty members who may use their EUC position as a springboard to a better paid position. We appreciate the collegiality and enthusiasm that the MA faculty and their supervisors brings to the program, but they are no substitute for transparency and equity. In other words, the salary system and the merit pay scale are structural problems of a serious nature that need to be addressed at the highest levels. There may even be liabilities to this | We appreciate the recommendation of the EEC. Their suggestions have been taken into knowledge and consideration by the involved administration bodies of the University. | Choose an item. | system from a legal point of view. Our advice: drop the “penny wise pound foolish” approach and put in place a more transparent system that will be robust enough to sustain itself through the near future.

| We recommend the establishment of a day-long Welcome Event for incoming students at a university-wide level, as the program of study has a particularly interesting structure. | We welcome the suggestion of the EEC. We have already established a Welcome Event for incoming students at a university-wide level. This event takes place (Online-Blackboard Collaborate Learn) during the first Week of every new Semester (Fall and Spring). The recorded meeting is uploaded on the platform of the compulsory introductory courses. Please see the latest Welcome Events that took place in September 2022 and June 2023 in the links below: (F2022) https://eu-lti.bbcollab.com/recording/a7fc2e88246e430fb56a84d7422582b1 (S2023) https://eu-lti.bbcollab.com/recording/8d0ae6e74188436ea2b0a09fe254e655 | Choose an item. |
| We recommend that the Department continues to closely monitor the completion and progression rates of students. | The completion and progression rates of students is monitored closely via reports sent to the Department by the Department of Enrollment. Furthermore, at the beginning of the Fall semester, the Chairperson requests from the Department of Enrollment the list of the students with low GPA. Then the Chairperson forwards the list to the Coordinators of all the programmes. The Coordinators communicate with each student, inform him/her about his/her low performance and discuss with him/her how to improve his/her performance. Then, the Coordinators inform the Chairperson regarding their actions. The Chairperson meets with some of the students with very low GPA in cases it is necessary. At the end of the Spring semester, the Chairperson requests again from the Department of Enrollment the list of the students with low GPA. Then the Chair checks whether the students with low GPA had the expected progress. In cases where this is not true, the Chairperson has a meeting with the student and the Coordinator in order to discuss the non-positive development regarding the performance of the student. The full detailed procedure followed appears in our EUC Low GPA Policy as this is described in Appendix 7. | Choose an item. |

Course instructors provide tutoring and mentoring on the content of student's courses and their evaluation and assessment. The course instructor is the person in charge for the teaching and learning process of each course. They provide students with all the necessary information and resources for the delivery of the course. All members of academic staff assign six (6) hours of office hours every week for consultation and support to students. Students are encouraged and advised to make use of these office hours as an important academic support structure in place that provides direct, personal and personalized contact with course instructors. The University has an established policy for rescheduling office hours. In addition, in alignment with relevant CY.Q.A.A. guidelines and respective open university international practices, for each course a Course Coordinator is appointed. Their role is to coordinate the course in case there are more than one sections regarding issues of content, design and elaboration of the learning activities, procedures and student evaluation. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Then, the Programme Coordinator is the person in charge of the structure and the content of each Programme, as well as for resolving conflicts between instructors and the students or between the students and the administrative services of the University. Further, Programme coordinators monitor student progress and provide advice and guidance to students with low GPA (as well as students who score higher academically, if needed) twice a year, based on the Department's and University' relevant policy. Finally, students are also supported by Student Advisors and the members of the Distance Education Unit who counsel them on administrative related issues, the planning of their study, problem resolution, and decision-making issues (e.g. course selection and enrolment, the registration and payment of tuition fees, etc.). All students are assigned a student advisor from the Advising Center of the University. The student advisor's task is to provide guidance as to the choice of courses of the student and maintain a track of the student's academic path. | |

| The skills of teachers can be developed further and be supported more if a stronger focus is placed on the possibilities of e-learning technology for reaching the educational goals of the program. | Academic staff of the Departments and Schools teaching on E-Learning programmes of study have extensive experience of instruction in tertiary education and research in their fields of study. All instructors receive ongoing professional development and training in e-learning, particularly in the use of communication technologies for teaching and learning. The University has established a rich Professional Development Programme under the C.I.Q.A Committee for Professional Development which comes under the Office of the Vice Rector of Academic Affairs. The Professional Development Programme is available to new and existing staff, both full-time and part-time faculty, and consists of a compulsory component on e-learning and other issues relating to teaching and e-learning in particular. The optional component is ongoing for all members of staff, part time and full time, via dedicated blackboard platform with available resources which are regularly updated and include webinars and materials on the latest developments affecting e-learning such as for example, the use of AI and Chat GPT for education. The Committee has an annual system of receiving the suggestions by colleagues on the topics they would like to receive bespoke training on, such as for example, teaching of foreign languages via e-learning. Training at School level is also available to cater to the needs of more discipline specific exchange of good practices such as for example use of tools for teaching literary texts via e-learning. | Choose an item. |

| Implement an equitable and transparent salary and merit pay system. | We thank the EEC for the recommendation. Please see our response in Section 3, page 9. | Choose an item. |
| Develop an advertising and marketing strategy for the whole Eastern Mediterranean and the East, in particular, with an emphasis on English-language course offerings | The EEC recommendations are highly appreciated. | Develop the summer school as a recruiting tool for the MA program. Support for this marketing strategy needs to come from the upper echelons of the EUC. Develop specialty topics such as 1) numismatics and 2) history and archaeology of Cyprus. Allow two such accelerated summer courses (maximum two) to count towards the electives of the MA, which then give the student a head-start and additional incentive to pursue the full MA degree. | As suggested by the EEC, a Summer School is planned for this year and is scheduled on June 8-11, 2023: https://euc.ac.cy/el/events/hellenic-studies-mithos-istoria-eikona-may23/ The goal of the Summer School is to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> present to the wider public subjects related to the three Concentrations of the Programme; encourage the active participation of persons most likely to be interested in joining the MA Hellenic Studies; establish further links with the local communities and memory institutions. It gives us great satisfaction that this event will take place in a museum with which we look forward to developing a permanent collaboration (please see Appendix 9). However, we agree with the EEC recommendation that it is imperative to further develop the Summer School of Hellenic Studies. Thus, in addition to the educational activities of the Summer School, in the following year, 2024, the Summer School will include two summer courses which will count towards one elective concentration course of the Programme and will bear the respective ECTS load. The two courses are: 1) Heritage Management and local Identities, and 2) Reception of the Greek and Cypriot Past in the 19th and 20th Centuries. | The faculty should continue to support and augment learning procedures that formalize and enhance student-student interaction and cooperation. | E-learning at EUC is designed in ways to promote interaction in various levels (learner-learner, learner-instructor, learner-content, learner-technology). The ultimate goal is to enhance the interaction between students and the learning that can only occur among motivated individuals working together. Interactive learning is a hands-on/real life approach to education founded upon building student engagement through guided social interaction connected with existing knowledge and their own experience and interests, with carefully designed and structured activities to facilitate learning in groups and challenge students to develop practical skills. Interactive learning seeks to enhance the interaction between learners and: <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. the course materials2. the instructor3. their peers Interactive learning emphasizes the active engagement of the learner in enrichment activities which aim at the practical and critical application of the theoretical knowledge. When interactive learning takes place within the contexts of student-material interaction, the student should be able to receive immediate feedback during her/his interaction with the course materials, and thus interactive learning will provide self-assessment opportunities. Interactive learning is, thus, a hands-on, real-life approach to education founded upon building activities to facilitate learning individually and/or in groups, challenging students to develop and apply practical scientific-specific skills and knowledge which are meaningful, | Choose an item. |

| | connected to their existing theoretical knowledge, personal experiences, interests and (academic and professional) goals. The focal point of interactivity is always on the skills of learners, not the capabilities of the technology that seeks to facilitate learning. Self-assessment and interactive exercises/activities are presented on a weekly basis. Such activities uphold the interest of students, motivate consistent participation and long-term engagement. Examples of such interactive exercises are the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• role playing• simulations• real-life scenarios• learning tools• online discussions for debating• the use of visualization tools to come to a specific outcome• brainstorming activities for answering a theoretical question• problem-solving questions in groups• preparing group PowerPoint presentations (e.g. after watching a video or studying a specific source)• answering quizzes and peer reviewing assignments of other students, etc. Gamification strategies are also embedded in EUC's E-Learning programmes of study. In addition, great emphasis is placed on communities of learning and collaboration. Learning collaboratively refers to using teamwork, through communication and discussion with the instructor and other student mates, to solve problems, develop projects, create products, either independently or jointly, etc. The construction of new knowledge is combined with the professional and personal experience of students, individual and group research processes and activities, knowledge management via the Blackboard Learn Ultra tools, etc. Collaboration is intertwined, supplemented and complemented with independent and autonomous learning, a necessary and needed condition of deep learning which is combined in a flexible way with other methodological approaches. | |

International Project 2021-2024

The Ptolemies and the Eastern Mediterranean

Coordinators of the Project

Panos CHRISTODOULOU – European University Cyprus

Anne-Emmanuelle VEÏSSE – Université Gustave Eiffel

Stéphanie WACKENIER – Université Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne

Damien AGUT-LABORDERE – CNRS-ArScAn, Nanterre

This research project aims at providing a better understanding of the process of the construction of royal ideology and the exercise of power in the various territories of the Ptolemaic kingdom located in the eastern Mediterranean: Egypt, Cyprus, Cyrenaica, southern Syria. Through in-depth case studies, the aim will be to reflect on the notion “external possessions”, commonly implicated to qualify the territories administrated by the Ptolemies outside Egypt, an approach which does not necessarily take into consideration the specificity of the relationship between each one of these regions and Alexandria. Special attention will be given to institutional, social, and cultural transformations within the regions concerned. The project will be developed in three phases. The first Workshop, entitled External possessions or affairs of the King? The case of Cyprus and Cyrenaica, took place in 2022 (European University Cyprus, Nicosia, 20-22/5), bringing together specialists on Cyprus, Cyrenaica and Egypt. The objective is to rethink and re-evaluate the position of these two regions within the Ptolemaic kingdom and the wider Mediterranean area.

The second workshop will take place in 2023 (18-21), again in Cyprus with the participation of the members of the Project as also of Erasmus students. The event, which is supported by the European University, it will be in English, and it will be also available online and accessible to the large public and mainly to those who are studying History or Archaeology or Heritage Management.

HES610 – Research Methods in HistoryGroup Peer-Review Assignment

IMPORTANT NOTICE: Please ensure that you have checked your course calendar for the due date for this assignment.

Guidelines

1. Make sure that you have carefully read and fully understood the questions before answering them. Answer the questions fully but concisely and as directly as possible.
2. Answer all questions in your own words. Do not copy any text from the notes, readings, or other sources. The assignment must be your own work only.
3. Read very carefully the section referring to Team/ Group disputes.
4. Your answer should not be more than 400 words.

1. Question

You are invited to comment on the following statement by Francois Hartog: "In a way, both the future and the past are cannibalized by the expanding present. In the previous regime of historicity the light came from the future and illuminated the present and the past. When the present becomes, so to speak, the only horizon, it is very difficult to formulate a vision or make predictions. To put it differently, on the one hand you have smarter and faster computers that do all the work and on the other you have unemployed people, for whom the word “plan” means absolutely nothing".

Additionally, you should include all sources you have used in a separate references section using the documentation style that you use in your Major Assignment. As a tip, you can use the free referencing manager tool – Zotero – and its Word citation plugin for automatic citations and referencing.

2. Grade allocation

The question receives five marks (5/100).

3. Peer marking – grading guidelines

This is a double peer review assignment – which means that two other randomly assigned peers will mark your assignment (you will be a peer marker of some of your colleague(s) as well). Here are some guidelines:

- Before you even make your first comment, read the document all the way through.
- Point out the strengths as well as the weaknesses of the document.
- Editorial comments should be appropriate and constructive. There is no need to be rude. Be respectful and considerate of the writer's effort and work.
- Be sure that your comments are clear and text-specific so that your peer will know what you are referring to (for example, terms such as "unclear" or "vague" are too general to be helpful).
- As a reader, raise questions that cross your mind, points that may not have occurred to your peer author.
- Try not to overwhelm your peer with too much commentary. Follow the feedback form and the issues you are supposed to address.
- Be careful not to let your own biases influence your review (for example, don't suggest that your peer completely rewrite the paper just because you don't agree with his/her point of view).
- Reread your comments before passing them on to your peer. Make sure all your comments make sense and are easy to follow.

There is a rubric already prepared for this assignment, and you are requested to use that for your marking. If you would like to provide further feedback, please follow the guidelines above.

INTERNAL REGULATION ON

"EUC's PROCEDURES FOR SUPPORTING STUDENTS WITH LOW GRADE POINT AVERAGE (GPA)"

71st Senate Decision: 7 February 2020

Aiming to develop a proposal/framework on the process and actions to be taken, in order to address and reduce the phenomenon of students' low G.P.A. and its effects, the actions to be taken in order to help reduce the phenomenon, are:

- the provision of correct information to all students, namely undergraduate, postgraduate, Conventional and Distance Learning;
- ensure that students are aware of the role of GPA and the impact of low GPA on the progress of their studies;
- increase of the support provided at the Program, Department and School level;
- proper implementation of procedures by the Student Advising Centre.

These actions are additional to the efforts/support that each individual instructor provides to each student and aim for a timely and early enough diagnosis of the phenomenon in order to facilitate an effective, early intervention.

The following steps will be followed for all students (both conventional and distance education):

1. The Department of Enrollment provides the Schools at the beginning of each academic semester (e.g. third week of October and February, respectively) with a list of their students with a low GPA (for undergraduate courses: below 1.80 except for the School of Medicine where the threshold has been set to 2.0; for postgraduate courses: below 2.5; for Ph.D. courses the issues concern late progress in completing the Ph.D.-see sample letter attached).
2. The School (this concerns all undergraduate and postgraduate Conventional and Distance Learning Programs of Study):
 - (1) For first year students at the end of the 1st semester of their studies or for students included in the list for the first time:

Each affected student is called by the Program Coordinator, in order to ensure that, students are aware of the concern of the Department and School, and that students are indeed properly informed that the Department is available to provide support (e.g. Specifically, students are informed about the role and importance of the GPA, the possible reasons and causes of the low GPA, and ways for improvement of the situation, which may either involve the student (e.g. further effort) or the Department and School).

(2) For new students, which continue to be in the same situation at the end of the second semester of their studies or for students appearing in the list for a second time:

The process presented in Item 1 above is repeated in the presence of the Chairperson of the Department, for further discussion and enhancement of the process, aiming at the most tangible academic targets and the procedures involved. If needed, the Chairperson of the Department and the Program Coordinator will request the presence of the Dean.

(3) For students who exhibit the phenomenon on a continuous basis:

The possibility of sending a letter from the Dean to the student (registered, in the home address) is considered (see attached "Sample" letters).

For the School of Medicine (undergraduate degrees) in more specific: The students with a GPA lower than 2.0 receive a "Letter of Probation" before the beginning of the second academic year of their studies (September). Students who received a "Letter of Probation" and still maintain an unacceptably low GPA will be given only one last opportunity to correct their GPA during the coming semester (Spring). At the end of the Spring semester of their second year of studies,, these students (e.g. those who have already received a letter of warning in the past), and continue to maintain a very low GPA will receive a "Letter of Dismissal", with the option to either change their program of study (e.g. transfer to biology) or to withdraw from the School. Those students who, on the other hand, have not yet received a "Letter of Probation" in the past, but perform unsatisfactorily, will receive a "Letter of Probation" at the end of the Spring semester of their second year of studies, with subsequent consequences should their performance not improve. This option will be provided this one and only time to those students with failures; no other opportunity will be provided to improve "F" grades. Each student will be notified accordingly, depending on their status.

3. The Department of Enrollment:

Each Student Advisor:

- (1) Contacts/communicates with students and ensures that each student is well informed and advised about the University's grading system and the role of GPA ;
- (2) In the case of students not passing a course, the advisor re-registers them to the same course in order to immediately delete the received F, and thus avoid accumulation of F's. This takes places in the exact following semester in case the affected course is a prerequisite to other courses, in order to avoid accumulation of F's;
- (3) Student advisors are in constant communication with the Program Coordinators in order to secure this process.

Encl.: (1) Sample Letters (Greek and English version)
(2) Sample Letter of Probation (School of Medicine)
(3) Sample Letter of Dismissal (School of Medicine)
(4) Sample Letter for Ph.D. Students (Department of Enrollement)

Re: Letter of Probation for G.P.A. of less than 2.0

Dear [Name of Student],

I regret to inform you that, due to your low cumulative Grade Point Average (GPA), you are being placed on academic probation. You will remain on probation and will be subject to dismissal until your cumulative GPA reaches or exceeds 2.00.

Academic Probation status is serious. You must raise your cumulative GPA to 2.00 to return to good standing and to receive your degree. According to European University Cyprus bylaws and the decision outlined by the EUC 48th Senate, students with a GPA lower than 1.7 at the end of their second year (year 2) are subject to dismissal (termination).

The School of Medicine is committed to helping you improve your academic performance so that you can return to good standing and make progress toward your degree. We will provide you with the services and activities to help you achieve academic success. In return, you must commit yourself to work diligently. It is my sincere hope that you will be successful next semester.

Re: Letter of Dismissal
Dear [Name of Student],

As you are aware, on [date of probation letter] you were placed on academic probation because your cumulative Grade Point Average (GPA) was below 2.00.

After careful review of your academic performance, the School of Medicine must regrettably inform the Rectorate and Director of Admissions that you have not made satisfactory progress and are recommended for dismissal from the Doctor of Medicine, MD, program.

According to European University Cyprus bylaws and the decision outlined by the EUC 48th Senate, students with a GPA lower than 2.0 will not be eligible for graduation.

While you are being dismissed from the program of Doctor of Medicine, you may wish to explore your options of transferring to another program in Life Sciences, such as Biology, offered by European University Cyprus. Δομή του Προγράμματος/Structure of the Programme

Το πρόγραμμα είναι έτσι σχεδιασμένο, ώστε αφενός μεν να προσφέρει μια συστηματική κατάρτιση σε ορισμένα θεμελιώδη μεθοδολογικά ζητήματα της μελέτης του ελληνικού πολιτισμού γενικότερα και αφετέρου να καθιστά εφικτή την ειδίκευση των φοιτητών στο επιμέρους αντικείμενο της προτίμησής τους.

Σε ένα πρώτο επίπεδο οι φοιτητές/τριες, εισάγονται στις ερευνητικές μεθόδους στην Ιστορία και Αρχαιολογία και Πολιτιστική Διαχείριση. Οι συγκροτημένες γνώσεις που αποκτούν τους επιτρέπουν να παρακολουθήσουν μαθήματα ειδίκευσης τα οποία εμπλουτίζουν και εμβαθύνουν τις γνώσεις και δεξιότητές τους στις Ελληνικές Σπουδές και ειδικότερα σε μία από τις τρείς κατευθύνσεις, δηλαδή την Ιστορία, την Αρχαιολογία και Τέχνη και την Πολιτιστική Διαχείριση. Στο τελικό στάδιο, οι φοιτητές/τριες καλούνται να συνθέσουν και να παρουσιάσουν μια πρωτότυπη Διπλωματική Εργασία.

The structure of the Programme allows students to fruitfully combine a more general with a more specific approach, that is, a diachronic with a synchronic study of the Hellenic past and present, acquiring important knowledge for both their professional and academic future in the field of History, Archaeology and Art, and Heritage Management.

In the first phase of the program, students are introduced to the Research Methods in Hellenic Studies, specifically in the fields of History/Archaeology and Art and Heritage Management. This advanced theoretical knowledge is the stepping-stone for the second phase in which students have the opportunity to enrich their knowledge and skills on subjects related to Hellenic Studies namely in the concentrations of History, Archaeology and Art, and Heritage Management. After this, students move on to the final phase of producing and presenting a Master Thesis of original scientific research.

Το υποχρεωτικό μάθημα Διπλωματική Εργασία, δίνει τη δυνατότητα στους φοιτητές/τριες να αποκτήσουν τις απαραίτητες δεξιότητες για την πραγματοποίηση ακαδημαϊκής έρευνας και συγγραφή διπλωματικής εργασίας σε έναν εξειδικευμένο πεδίο όπως για παράδειγμα στην Ιστορία ή/και στην Αρχαιολογία και την Τέχνη ή/και τη Διαχείριση Κληρονομιά. Με την ολοκλήρωση της διπλωματικής εργασίας, οι φοιτητές/τριες θα μπορούν να διεξάγουν πρωτότυπη έρευνα και να συνθέτουν ένα επιστημονικό δοκίμιο ανεξάρτητα, κριτικά, μεθοδικά και συστηματικά.

The course aims to provide an opportunity for students to pursue scholarly research in a specialized area in History and/or in Archaeology & Art and/or Heritage Management. Upon completion of the thesis, students will be able to conduct original research and compose scientific essays independently, applying critical thought and methodologies.

The Heritage Management Concentration aims to enhance student's knowledge of all major topics related to this scientific field. The proposed courses focus on museums, monuments, tourism, education, digital technologies, and perceptions today and explore the critical reception of the Hellenic past and the Hellenic intellectual production in the modern era. As a result, students can fruitfully combine a more general with a more specific approach, that is, a diachronic with a synchronic study of the Hellenic past and present, acquiring important knowledge for both their professional and academic future in the field of Heritage Management.
