A. Introduction

The panel evaluated the Diploma in Business Administration (2 years / 120 ECTS) offered by Atlantis College. The programme is a long-established qualification designed to prepare students for entry-level and supervisory roles in business or progression to bachelor-level studies.

The evaluation was based on the College's self-assessment report, supporting documentation, and annexes on teaching staff, facilities, and financial projections. The review included discussions with the management team, academic and administrative staff, and students as well as one stakeholder representative.

Atlantis College demonstrates a strong institutional commitment to quality education, with clear policies for academic standards, student support, and continuous improvement. Facilities are excellent for an institution of its size, the faculty are well qualified and engaged, and the administrative structure is responsive and efficient. Areas identified for improvement include strengthening applied research output, formalising employer and alumni engagement, expanding community outreach, and ensuring systematic communication of policies related to academic integrity and GenAI use. School management and owner are closely engaged with and committed to staff and student community.

Also, it is important to note the importance of the College meeting the needs of the local communities' workforce to upgrade their skills. Moreover, classes in the diploma programme mix mature students seeking skill upgrades and recent high school graduates seeking employability skills. This mix appears to greatly enhance the quality of educational provision, providing this College and this degree with a competitive advantage.

Atlantis College has a well-established quality assurance (QA) framework overseen by the Quality Assurance Committee. Policies and procedures are documented in the Quality Assurance Manual and are consistent with CYQAA and EQF standards. The College conducts annual internal evaluations through the Annual Monitoring & Evaluation Report (AMER) and uses student and faculty feedback to inform programme improvements.

Programme objectives are aligned with EQF Level 5 outcomes and the institutional strategy of combining academic rigour with practical employability. Faculty and administrators participate actively in programme design and review, though external stakeholder involvement remains informal.

Findings

A short description of the situation in the Higher Education Institution (HEI), based on elements from the application for external evaluation and on findings from the onsite visit.

The College employs qualified and experienced teaching staff. Most hold postgraduate or doctoral degrees, with professional experience directly related to the courses they teach. Recruitment and appraisal processes are transparent and merit-based.

Facilities are excellent for an institution of this size, including modern classrooms and a large, purpose-built auditorium. Management is responsive—recently increasing administrative support staff from two to five to accommodate growth and maintain service quality. Faculty express strong satisfaction with available resources and with the supportive work environment.

Incentives exist for faculty research and professional development, including teaching remission and small financial grants. However, publication output remains modest. Research tends to be applied and localised, with limited publication in peer-reviewed venues. Stakeholder engagement, though active informally, lacks a structured advisory mechanism. Improving this would also further embed the College in the local and regional community.

Strengths

A list of strengths, e.g. examples of good practices, achievements, innovative solutions etc.

- Highly qualified and professionally experienced teaching staff.
- Excellent facilities (auditorium, modern classrooms, IT infrastructure).
- Responsive leadership and collegial environment.
- Clear and fair workload allocation.
- Marking structure promotes continuous assessment (60% final, 40% coursework, etc.).

Areas of improvement and recommendations

A list of problem areas to be dealt with, followed by or linked to the recommendations of how to improve the situation.

- Develop and fund applied research and case-study projects relevant to Cypriot and regional business practice. But we acknowledge that some such funding is already available—this would strengthen the diploma programme and other areas of the College.
- Establish a formal advisory board to connect employers, alumni, and faculty.
- Implement a guest lecture policy to ensure regular practitioner engagement.
- Communicate the College's GenAI and academic integrity policy in course outlines and student orientation.
- Increase incentives for faculty attending conferences or publishing research—not taken advantage of—or so it appears.

D. Conclusions and final remarks

Please provide constructive conclusions and final remarks which may form the basis upon which improvements of the quality of the programme of study under review may be achieved, with emphasis on the correspondence with the EQF.

Overall, the Atlantic College demonstrates a credible and well-structured Diploma programme delivered by qualified and committed faculty, supported by highly engaged management, appropriate facilities and a strong institutional ethos of student care. Teaching quality is sound, learning outcomes are broadly aligned with programme aims, and student satisfaction appears high.

However, several areas merit continued attention. Research productivity and scholarly engagement remain modest, limiting synergies between teaching and research. While staff qualifications meet external standards, formal preparation for online and blended delivery is limited, and systematic professional development in digital pedagogy should be strengthened.

The programme would benefit from more structured approaches to staff development, especially in online pedagogy and assessment. Mechanisms for linking teaching practice with applied research and industry engagement remain underdeveloped. Strengthening these areas would further enhance quality and compliance with EQF standards.

Finally, we recommend establishing a Programme Advisory Board including employers, alumni, and external academics, especially from the local and regional community. This would support the further embedding of the College in the region.

Overall, the Diploma programme is compliant, with many strengths being evidenced.
