Findings for [Title 1]

Overall, there is a coherent and consistent QA process in place

Strengths

A list of strengths, e.g. examples of good practices, achievements, innovative solutions etc.

- Purpose-designed building and other physical resources
- The limited number of students allows staff to monitor and measure the student progress closely and effectively

Areas of improvement and recommendations

A list of problem areas to be dealt with, followed by or linked to the recommendations of how to improve the situation.

Areas of improvement and recommendations for [Title 1]

- We are unclear as to how much of the QA system is publicly available, and the degree to which certain details specific to the Architecture department (such as the exemption from the requirement for all teaching staff to have a PhD) is also made explicit. Documentation supplied to the panel is detailed, but this does not appear to be publicly accessible.
- Policies towards staff and students with disability are clear, but other categories of potential discrimination (gender, ethnicity, sexuality etc) should be equally explicit.
- The panel was informed about the student evaluation occurring on a regular and informal basis, but we were not provided with evidence of any formal system. This may exist, but should be made more explicit in future documentation. This should include details as to how student anonymity is preserved.
- Although learning outcomes are stated in module and programme documentation, there are no explicit assessment criteria by which grades are judged and awarded.
- Admission criteria should be explicitly available on the departmental website.
- We recommend that systematic monitoring be made of marks and grades awarded in relation to gender, ethnicity and disability.
