Findings

A short description of the situation in the Higher Education Institution (HEI), based on elements from the application for external evaluation and on findings from the onsite visit.

Details about the quality assurance processes at the University of Nicosia was provided. Quality assurance issues were discussed at the meeting. In the context of a joint degree programme, information on quality assurance from the other partner universities may be useful.

Strengths

A list of strengths, e.g. examples of good practices, achievements, innovative solutions etc.

As the quality assurance committee involves senior leadership this reassures of genuine commitment to ensuring the participating universities are engaged at the highest levels in quality assurance processes.

The quality assurance board including representation comprising all participating partner institutions to oversee the continuing monitoring and enhancement of the academic standards, assessment practices and student services of the joint programme.

Areas of improvement and recommendations

A list of problem areas to be dealt with, followed by or linked to the recommendations of how to improve the situation.

It would be useful to have mid module reviews including student feedback so that modules could be improved in real time rather than at the end.

We suggest the inclusion and broad engagement with stakeholders working in global health, nationally and internationally (including governmental and non-governmental organisations).

It might be worth reconsidering the title of the qualification if global health elements central to the qualification are not enhanced.

We recommend that the content of the programme is reviewed to strengthen the global health aspects.

7.3	Added value of the joint programme	Partially compliant

D. Conclusions and final remarks

Please provide constructive conclusions and final remarks which may form the basis upon which improvements of the quality of the programme of study under review may be achieved, with emphasis on the correspondence with the EQF (Consider also the added value of the joint programme).

We welcome the opportunity to evaluate this programme which is a genuine attempt to continue to develop international cooperation (NEOLAiA alliance). We were well hosted on the day, and the meetings were run efficiently.

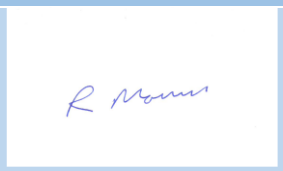

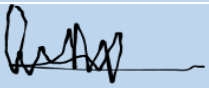

We have the following recommendations which we trust will enhance the programme.

1) Establish a clearer connection with global health or consider changing the name. This could include for example, providing training and mobility opportunities for staff in this area; the recruitment of new staff with expertise in global health; establishing close working ties with global health agencies and institutions; and supporting staff to develop their research and teaching competencies in this area.

2) It would be useful to have mid module reviews including student feedback so that modules could be improved in real time rather than at the end.

3) More details could be provided on the objectives, management and evaluation of internships for students.
